At the Furukawa AS Group, we have worked to create a “safe, secure and comfortable” working environment and manage employee health under a basic policy of “give top priority to health and safety, and achieve zero accidents & zero illness”. In April 2020, the Safety Environment Department was established in the headquarters as the organization responsible for these activities, and currently, health and safety training using safety experience training equipment is being carried out at all locations. As part of these activities, we sought to acquire ISO 45001 certification through third party accreditation with the objective of realizing a level of safety management on par with the global standards.
